PROPOSE TO ADOPT OREGON'S PLAN IN ARIZONA

Eleven Propositions Submitted to Constitutional Convention at Phoenix.

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 17.—Eleven propositions were introduced in the constitutional convention held here today. Included three for the initiative and referendum, modeled after the Oregon plan, requiring 10 and 5 percent petitions. One proposition by Judge Baker of Maricopa requires a three-fourths majority to pass a law in the legislature over the governor's veto.

Rules Met With Favor.

The rules which have been adopted by the constitutional convention met with general satisfaction and are unusually guarded in the provisions for action on propositions proposed for the constitution. The previous question, which cuts off debate, shall not be put unless endorsed by three members.

The Routine.

Concerning the routine, which propositions passed through before being embodied in the constitution, it is provided that all matters intended to be a part of the constitution shall be read in full the first time, and unless objected to referred to the committee on printing and 500 copies of the draft of the constitution shall be printed. Within two days the proposition printed must be reported back to the convention. It shall be read a second time in full and then referred to the proper committee. The committee is given three days, exclusive of the day of reference, in which to consider and report the proposition with the committee's report to the convention, with the proposition as originally introduced and the committee amendments.

This rule will prevent "pigeon holing" in the committee. The propositions shall then be placed on the calendar of the committee of the whole. Any proposition may be recommitted to the same committee at any time before the final vote is taken thereon. When reported back by the committee of the whole the report of the whole committee shall be considered, and second if the proposition shall not be amended, the question will be whether it shall be referred again or if these amendments be engraved and have a third reading.

Propositions Ordered Engrossed.

A proposition ordered engrossed shall be referred to the committee on style, revision and compilation. The committee must report within two days exclusive of the day of reference, when the revised proposition shall be read in full and the question of the adoption of the revised proposition voted upon. When it shall be referred again to the committee on style and revision, and by that committee be embodied in its proper place in the constitution.

Must Report On All Propositions.

At a session this time to be determined by the convention at least eight days before final adjournment, the committee on style, revision and compilation shall report to the convention all propositions adopted by section and by the committee on style and revision, and the same shall be ordered printed and acted on, section by section, by the committee of the whole. The report of the committee of the whole shall be acted upon by the convention.

After being so adopted, the compiled constitution shall be referred to the committee on style, revision and compilation to be engrossed and the same reported back to the convention at a date to be determined upon by the convention at least two days before final adjournment. When reported, the constitution shall be read in full and be submitted to a final vote. No amendments upon such reading shall be permitted. After final passage the constitution shall be signed by the president and all the members of the convention.

PHILADELPHIA WINS THE FIRST GAME OF SERIES

redman showed that he had his tribal sign on the Cubs before the game had gone the half way limit. No runs.

Philadelphia—The home club fared no better at the hands of McIntyre, the former Brooklyn pitcher, who went in for Chicago. No runs.

Chicago—Tinker, Kling and McIntyre, three more hard hitting Cub batters, bit the dust before Bender's benders. The Indians continued in command and was looking good for a fast finish in his favor. No runs.

Philadelphia—Collins, Baker and Davis, three of Philadelphia's strong men, died natural deaths at first on a pop infield hits off Mac's curves. No runs.

Seventh Inning

Chicago—Sheekard hit a hot one to Barry's ankles at short, who threw him out to first baseman Davis at first. Hoffman's slashing hit down third base way went the same route after Baker had made a grand stop of it. Dutch Schaefer was indignantly struck out by Bender, retiring the side. No runs.

Philadelphia—Outfielder Sheekard, took Murphy's long fly out of the clouds. Barry hit to first and was out through the agility of the peerless Bender, who is catching every inch as good as Kling, waited McIntyre out for a base on balls, but Bender hit to the infield and closed the inning with Thomas no nearer home than second. No runs.

Eighth Inning

Chicago—Again the P. L. (peerless leader) went out in disorder. Zimmerman failed to fill Johnny Kling's batting shoes in the eighth and Steinfield made three inglorious outs and a shutout sacrifice.

Philadelphia—Collins drew a base on balls. McIntyre made a wild peg to catch him off the bag and Collins went to third. Baker, the third base stand-by of the Phillies, slammed a slap off the right side corner wall for two bases, scoring Collins. This was the third hit for Philadelphia. Davis died in the usual infield to first route. One run.

Ninth Inning

Chicago—Fighting like cornered animals, the Cubs came up for their final batting, desperate. Tinker singled to center field, Strunk making a mess of fielding the ball, allowing Tinker to take second. This cheered the Cubs up.

FANS MAKE RUSH TO GET INTO PARK

Camp Out During Night Near Entrance to Ball Grounds.

The intense interest manifested in the world's championship series was fittingly illustrated as early as 8 o'clock Sunday night, when a long line of baseball fans began to gather at Shibe park. The line, a block long, formed at the entrance to the grounds.

As the crowd grew larger a photographer endeavored to take a flashlight of the scene. At this juncture, a squad of policemen charged the would-be purchasers and drove them away. The crowd then made a rush for a public park directly opposite the ball park and at midnight there were probably 1000 persons quartered in this small breathing space.

The Chicago team is made up of practically the same men that won for Chicago two world's championships from Detroit in 1907 and 1908, while with the exception of five players, pitchers Bender and Plank, first baseman Davis and outfielders Murphy and Hartzel, Philadelphia is composed of young men who have joined the team since the locals lost in a world's series competition against the New York Nationals in 1905. Each club is managed by a veteran campaigner, Chicago by Frank Chance, who plays first base, and Philadelphia by "Coney" Mack, who directs his forces from the bench.

Injuries to players this month have changed some of the early forecasts as to the series. Chicago lost Evers, who had his leg broken in a game at Cincinnati on Oct. 1. Evers is generally regarded as one of the most brains players on the diamond. His place at second base will be filled by Zimmerman, who is nearly as good a fielder as Evers and a better batsman. Philadelphia suffered a greater loss last week when center fielder Oldring, who is rated as their second best all around player, injured his knee so severely that he cannot play in Chicago.

For the first time since the world's series has been played under the rules of the National commission, both of the contending teams took the field with nearly every man trained to the minute. Each team won its penant easily and therefore had an opportunity to rest and prepare for the big contests, which have attracted at most world wide attention. The followers of baseball throughout the country look for the greatest world's series ever played.

The majority of the critics and the public generally considering that the two teams are so evenly matched that it is almost impossible to pick the winner. As to the pitchers and catchers, it is conceded that Chicago has in Kling and Archer a pair of catchers superior to Philadelphia's back stops and that the Athletics pitching staff is superior to that of the Cubs.

Tremendous interest has been shown in the series all over the country. Nearly 100 of the largest newspapers in the country are represented by baseball experts. So great was the demand for seats for the opening game here that even before the National commission representatives, John A. Heydler, announced the plan of distributing them, practically every seat was sold. Philadelphia fans were given the preference and several grand stands which were to have been run here from Chicago, Pittsburgh, Boston, Wilkes-Barre and various points throughout this state had to be canceled because of inability to secure tickets.

The grandstand at Shibe park seats about 9100 people and the tickets to this structure were sold for $3 and 2, netting about $20,000 for each game. It is expected that more than 20,000 persons will be able to see the games each day from the bleachers and from places back of the ropes in the outfield, so that if the expected crowds turn out, each game is expected to net about $37,000. The National commission will receive a 10 percent commission on each game. The players will figure in the receipts of the first four games only. After the National commission percentage is taken out, the players will receive 60 percent and each club 20 percent. Should the series go more than four games, all the money, less the National commission percentage, will be divided among the two clubs. The players' money will be divided as follows: Sixty percent to the winning team and 40 percent to the losing team.

Some of the biggest men in baseball, including many of the club owners, will be here for the series, while president Taft has promised to take in a game if possible.

The National commission has declared 23 members of each team eligible to play in the series. Umpires Sheridan and Connolly have been appointed to represent the American league, and umpires Rigger and O'Day the National league.

The schedule provides for the first two games to be played here and the next two in Chicago, Wednesday being an off day. If possible the teams will leave Chicago Friday afternoon and play here on Saturday, and if necessary return to Chicago at once for a game on Sunday.

MANY CHARGES AGAINST HIM.

Publio Ybarra, charged with drunkenness, disturbing the peace and resisting an officer, is detained at the police station for a hearing in police court Monday afternoon. He was caught at Seventh and El Paso streets Sunday morning after a bout with Sgt. Davis and officer Cooper.

RELEASED ON ASSAULT CHARGE.

James Gill and O. Elliott, arrested Sunday on a charge of assault, have been released from the police station on bonds of $100 each. The men were arrested on Broadway by officers Cobb and Ware. D. C. Cannon is the prosecuting witness in the case.
